LIGHTS ASKED BY DOWNTOWN MERCHANTS

PETITION PRESENTED TO CITY COUNCIL TUESDAY MAY DIE IN COMMITTEE

CANNOT INCREASE BUDGET

Present Appropriations Will Not Permit Additional Lighting. Other Matters Taken Up

A petition signed by practically every merchant in the downtown business district, asking that the city place lights in alleys of the business district, presented to the city council Tuesday night, was referred to the public utilities committee and probably will die there, it was indicated. No provision is made in the present city budget for any additional lights, it was said, and inasmuch as the last general assembly has limited city budgets for the next two years, it will be impossible to appropriate additional funds to care for more lights.

Although Mayor W. L. Denman and members of the council discussed the petition and stated they would like to provide the lights, no one of them were able to present a solution of the matter. Under the present limited city budget it will be possible to install about two more lights, it was said, but these probably will have to be placed in the recently annexed territories.

After the discussion the petition was referred to the public utilities committee on a motion by John Cherry. Beamer Havens, chairman of the utilities committee, probably will carry the petition back to the merchants who signed it and explain the city's situation.

Mr. Havens also reported that the utilities committee was not yet ready to report on petitions for lights at Dyer and Madison streets and on Madison street.

At the request of Paul G. Collett, a city tax license held by Collett was ordered transferred to Gaylord M. Brown, who recently purchased the Collett line. A discussion resulted from a complaint by the city marshal that Brown was using a car in the taxi business other than the one licensed by the city and a complaint by the city clerk that drivers for Brown did not all have chauffeur's licenses. Brown was to be called on the carpet before the mayor by the city marshal as a result of the complaints.

Permits were granted to William Blackwell to add a porch to his home at 511 south Locust street and to A. A. Brothers to re-roof a residence at 707 Locust street.

As a result of a previous request by councilmen O. F. Lakin and Havens city attorney Glenn H. Lyon read a law covering maintenance of street lights at railroad crossings within the city. The law indicated it was the duty of the council to require the railroad to maintain lights at the crossings similar to the lights used elsewhere in the city. Following a discussion the city clerk was asked to look in his records and see if the city now has an ordinance covering maintenance of lights at crossings and to report at another meeting.

All councilmen voted yes on the allowance of claims against the city with the exception of councilman Lawrence Snider who objected to the payment of claims to the Huber Manufacturing Company for repair of the city street roller.

ROBBERS LOOT RACCOON STORE

THIEVES REMOVE MERCHANDISE
VALUED AT MORE THAN $100

Thieves looted the Cully Wilson store at Racoon of clothing, groceries and tobacco, valued at more than $100, Tuesday night, according to Sheriff Alva Bryan who investigated the theft Wednesday morning.

The store is operated by J. C. Wilson and son, Cully.

Entrance to the store was gained by unlocking the front outside door. It was believed the loot was loaded into a waiting truck or other motor vehicle and hauled away. Indications were that an organized gang was responsible for the theft.

The loot included groceries, shoes, cigars, cigarettes, trousers, straw hats, overalls, shirts, candy and various kinds of canned vegetables and meats. No clues which might lead to the identity of the thieves were left, it was said.

It was said the thieves did not touch a small amount of cash in the cash register in the store.

BIDS TO BE OPENED BY HIGH-WAY COMMISSION IN INDI-
ANAPOLIS JUNE 2

Bids for the hard-surfacing of State Road 43 south from Cloverdale for a distance of 7.105 miles, will be opened by the Indiana state highway commission in Indianapolis on Tuesday, June 2.

Bids for three types of pavement will be received, puddle macadam, bituminous retread, and bituminous coated aggregate. These types of surface are said to correspond with the surface now laid between Greencastle and Cloverdale.

Paving of this stretch will provide a hard surface on state road 43 south, with the exception of a short stretch of 10 miles between the above point and Spencer. Contractors are now paving Road 43 between Spencer and Bloomington and a contract has been let for paving road 43 from Greencastle to Crawfordsville.

The highway commission maintenance department is already preparing the road surface for the pavement south of Cloverdale. One cut-off in the present road is being made at the south edge of Cloverdale and another is being made at the county line. Contractors are also putting in a new bridge over a creek at the south edge of Cloverdale.

REGISTRAR OF MUSIC SCHOOL HAS RESIGNED

MEDFORD MAXWELL WILL GO TO WAKEFIELD, MICH. AS SUPERVISOR

WELL KNOWN OVER CITY

DePauw Faculty Member Organized
Local High School Band During Sojourn Here.

Medford Maxwell, for the last three years registrar of the school of music at DePauw University and director of the Greencastle high school band, has resigned, it was announced today, to become instrumental supervisor of public schools at Wakefield, Michigan. The change comes as a material advancement to Mr. Maxwell both in salary and opportunities for advancement.

Mr. Maxwell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Maxwell of Frankfort, Ind., where he was graduated from high school and also head of the community building there in 1925 and 1926. Mr. Maxwell entered DePauw as a student in 1922 and in 1927 was taken in the music school faculty as part time instructor on brass instruments. He became registrar of the school in 1929.

The resignation is to take effect August 1, following summer school session during which he will teach. Mr. Maxwell organized the Greencastle high school band in 1928 and last year placed second in the contest. This year his band was eliminated by his former high school, Frankfort who in turn placed as runner-up in the state. Under Mr. Maxwell's guidance and instruction the Greencastle band developed from a handful of musically inclined youngsters to a band in uniform that any school should feel pride in.

Wakefield, Mich., where Mr. Maxwell will take up his new office next fall, is located in the heart of the iron field. Not only does his new contract call for a liberal salary but also gives him a yearly budget of some $3500 in addition. The offer came unsolicited and speaks well for the attention that Mr. Maxwell has commanded through his work with the DePauw school of music. Mr. Maxwell is married and has a small son. Mrs. Maxwell was Clarice Kenney, also of Frankfort.

HEAVY GUARD FOR ELECTION VERSAILLES, May 13, (UP)—A heavy guard of gendarmes and troops was mobilized at Versailles, outside Paris, to maintain order during the presidential elections here today.

More than 4,000 men were ordered on duty. Royalist and nationalist groups had announced publicly that they intended to hold demonstrations in the event Aristide Briand, foreign minister, known for his peace policies, was elected.

LIQUOR RING CLEANS UP

INDIANAPOLIS, May 13, (UP)—Operations of an alleged liquor gang in Indianapolis enabled members to deposit $97,000 in banks in eight months last year, it was charged in federal court here by G. R. Jeffrey, United States district attorney.

The money was placed on an account entitled "C. R. Company," Jeffries said, and handled by Earl J. Allen and Clarence R. Criswell, defendants in the trial.

JURORS HEAR EVIDENCE IN MURDER CASE

WITNESSES ON STAND IN TRIAL OF FORMER GARY ATHLETE

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 13, (UP)—Events surrounding the liquor party death of Arlene Draves, 18, were recounted today by witnesses in circuit court where Virgil Kirkland, 20, Gary, was on trial for the second time on charges of murdering the girl whom he said he loved.

The youth was charged with causing Miss Draves' death by attack or attempted attack. Conviction of murder on either count carries the death penalty under Indiana law. At his first trial, Kirkland was sentenced to life imprisonment on charges of causing the girl's death by a blow.

Attorney Oscar Thiel announced Kirkland again would testify and would submit to a "lie detector" test upon the stand. This instrument, perfected by police experts of Northwestern university, is intended to record minute blood pressure changes when the subject tells an untruth.

The lawyer said Kirkland had been subjected to the test and his reactions "proved him innocent."

BEER RUNNER'S HOME SPRAYED WITH BULLETS

GANGSTERS TERRORIZE CHICAGO
SOUTHSIDE BY THREE NIGHT VISITS

CHICAGO, May 13, (UP)—While all Chicago celebrated today over "the end of gang rule and the return of prosperity," police questioned James L. Quigley in an effort to learn why gangsters terrorized a south side neighborhood by spraying the Quigley home with machine gun bullets three times within as many hours.

Quigley was said by police to be a beer runner of the Edward "Spoke" O'Donnell gang. He made no report when enemy gangsters first rode past his house late last night and fired a round of shots through his windows.

When the gang returned an hour later and repeated the attack, Quigley called police. The officers took him to jail. While he was there his family called up to report that the gang had passed again and again had sprayed the house with lead.

No one was hit in any of the outbreaks.

Police said they believed the shooting was a gangster exhibition intended to show the authorities that Quigley was one of the men involved April 21 in the killing of Edward Fitzgerald, a gangster, in a saloon. It appeared, the officers preferred having him arrested to killing him and directed the machine gun attacks to "point him out."

Harry Hyter, said by police to be a follower of the Scarface Al Capone gang, was killed yesterday by gangsters who tossed his body into a woods 157 blocks south of the loop. Hyter had been arrested numerous times since 1921 on robbery charges.

DENIES STATEMENT

Fred Nelson, of Bainbridge, one of two brothers who engaged in an altercation at Morton Monday, denied a statement in the Banner in which it was said that his brother Raymond Nelson was in a Crawfordsville hospital as a result of an injury inflicted by him. Fred Nelson stated he struck his brother after he was provoked but he denied that the brother was in a hospital.

SERVICE GROUP TO MEET HERE SUNDAY, MAY 24

WOMEN'S OVERSEAS SERVICE
LEAGUE WILL PAY VISIT TO THIS CITY

IS NATIONAL ORGANIZATION

Hoosier Unit To Observe Important
Date, Similar To The American Legion

The Hoosier Unit of the Women's Overseas Service League will observe its annual Organization Day on Sunday, May 24, when the members of the unit will motor to Greencastle to hold a luncheon meeting at the Grant Hotel, on the National Road.

The Women's Overseas Service League is a national organization with units in principal cities of the United States, Havana and Paris, France.

Qualifications for membership require that a woman must have served overseas with the Allies between August 1, 1914 and January 1, 1920 and must have an honorable discharge from her branch of service. The majority of the members served in either the Army Nurse Corps or some one of the welfare organizations attached to the army.

The League is similar to but in no way connected with the American Legion. Its purpose is "to keep alive and develop the spirit that prompted overseas service." The organization has been very active in assisting patriotic works; in working for the welfare of the army and navy; in co-operating with the army in the summer training camps; in assisting in any way those who served and were wounded or incapacitated in the World War.

The League does not confine its rehabilitation work to World War veterans, however, and for years past has been particularly concerned with the welfare of the women veterans of both the Spanish American and the World Wars. To them belongs the honor of having been instrumental in opening the doors of two national soldiers homes, for the first time in history, to women. Several years ago Danville (Illinois) Soldiers Home began receiving the women of the army, name and marine corps in their old age, while patients with tuberculosis were received at the national sanitarium in Milwaukee. Within the last few weeks the government, mindful of the great need for better quarters for these aging women, has moved them to the Dayton, Ohio Soldiers Home.

Approximately 25,000 women served overseas during the World War. Of these 49 per cent were the nurses of the army, name and marine corps, who are entitled to the same hospitalization and domiciliary care as the ex-service men. The other 51 per cent covers the so-called "women civilians" and the so-called "welfare workers" who were attached to the army and are therefore not eligible to benefits.

It comes as a shock to most people to realize that there can be disabled women as a result of the World War. The League at this time is vitally interested in a new bill introduced into the House by Congressman Goss of Connecticut in their behalf, in which the government is asked to give the so-called "women civilians" taken overseas by the government the same benefits as the government is giving the nurses. If this bill passes the next Congress a little less than one thousand women who served in the Signal Corps, the Ordnance Corps, the Quartermasters Corps and similar branches of service will become eligible to hospitalization. It is the League's contention that these women were taken overseas by the government to release men for the front and that they are entitled to the same care given the nurses and the ex-service men.

The so-called "welfare workers" are the women who served as nurses aides; as canteen workers with the American Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Salvation Army; those who served with the American Red Cross as clericals, hospital shut workers, searchers; with the National Catholic War Council; the Jewish Welfare Board; the American Committee for Devastated France; the various college units and similar organizations; and lastly, the several hundred Red Cross nurses who, at the request of the army, were not inducted into the army in order that they might more quickly be moved from post to post in the war zones. The plight of these Red Cross nurses is particularly pathetic inasmuch as they were frequently under fire and were charged with the same type of work as those who were stationed in

PRINCIPAL IN KNIFE FIGHT IS RELEASED

ISAAC ROGERS OF NEAR STILES-
VILLE HAD BEEN HELD
TWO WEEKS

BULLETIN

The Putnam County grand jury adjourned at noon Wednesday after returning seven indictments and filing its report on the County Farm and County Jail. One of those indicted was Fred Allen of Washington township, who is charged with assault and battery on his wife, and intoxication. Certain improvements were recommended at the Farm and Jail.

Release of one man from the county jail and the arrest of a second, was the latest development Wednesday in the present grand jury investigation of conditions in Putnam county. Isaac Rogers, of near Stilesville, who was alleged to have seriously wounded March Hamilton of south of town, in a fight at a dance on Fox Ridge two weeks ago, was released from the county jail Wednesday morning on his own recognizance, although a charge of carrying a deadly weapon filed by George Hamilton, father of March Hamilton, still was on file against him in the Putnam circuit court.

Hamilton only recently was released from the county hospital where he was under treatment for loss of blood from a severed artery in his left arm, as a result of a wound alleged inflicted by Rogers.

Statements by witnesses of the fight between the two men indicated that Hamilton was the aggressor in the fight and that he first hit Rogers with a blunt instrument believed to have been knucks.

Although it could not be said that the grand jury would not indict either man, the release of Rogers indicates that it is possible the grand jurors believe the two principals have had enough punishment.

It also became known Wednesday that Fred Allen, who lives on the National road in Washington township, was held in the county jail facing a grand jury indictment for assault and battery on his wife. It was said that Mrs. Allen bore bruises on her face when she appeared before the grand jurors Tuesday.

The grand jury resumed its deliberations Wednesday making the fourth day it has been in session. Although unofficial reports indicate that several matters have been under investigation by the grand jurors no definite information is permitted to leak from the grand jury room on the third floor of the courthouse.

CLOVERDALE MAN IS FOUND TO BE INSANE

WILLIAM J. SMYSER, 61, COMMIT-
TED TO EVANSVILLE STATE HOSPITAL

William J. Smyser, age 61, Cloverdale R. 1, was committed to the Evansville state hospital for the insane, by Judge James P. Hughes in the Putnam circuit court Tuesday, following a report by three physicians who examined Smyser.

Dr. W. M. McGaughey, the attending physician, Dr. C. B. O'Brien and Dr. William O'Brien, the latter two appointed by the court to examine Smyser, all found Smyser to be mentally unbalanced.

According to their reports to the court, Smyser seems to be afraid of everybody, claws the air, cries and wrings his hands, talks incoherently, has delusions of persecution, and has suicidal tendencies. Smyser's present insanity developed following a nervous attack several years ago, the wife stated.

Smyser will be taken to the Evansville institution as soon as hospital authorities approve his commitment and accept him.

MOB VIOLENCE NOT HALTED BY MARTIAL LAW

INHABITANTS FLEE FROM SEV-ERAL SPANISH CITIES AS VANDALISM CONTINUES

RIOTERS - BATTLE SOLDIERS

Three Killed, Five Wounded In Clash
Between Mob And Civil Guards
At Cordova.

MADRID, May 13 (UP)—Frightened inhabitants of nearly a score of cities and towns fled into the countryside today, terrorized by the continued violence of anti-religious mobs whose fanatical vandalism martial law failed to check.

Three persons were killed and five wounded at Cordova when civil guards repulsed an attack by a mob on the San Cayetano church. Two of the wounded were civil guardsmen. Martial law prevailed, but members of the frightened populace fled.

In the south, the exodus of panic-stricken refugees was particularly great. Hundreds, many of them prominent persons, sought to escape over the border to Gibraltar.

A crowd assembled on the main highway between San Roque and La Linea. They came in automobiles and afoot from Malaga, Cadiz, Seville, Jerez and other cities and towns where convents, churches and other religious buildings had been sacked and burned in the past three days of anti-religious riots which broke out in Madrid.

Soldiers stopped the refugees, however, and ordered them to return.

Strict enforcement of martial law maintained order in Madrid. Army engineers with machine guns and an armored car from Alcala barracks were stationed at the Bank of Spain, in the Plaza Cibeles, the most important public square in the capital. Noise was permitted to approach the square. Traffic in the vicinity was paralyzed.

ORCHESTRA LEAVES FOR CLEVELAND

HIGH SCHOOL MUSICIANS TO TAKE PART IN NATIONAL CONTEST

An auto caravan, leaving here about 6:30 a. m. Wednesday, took more than thirty members of the high school orchestra to Cleveland, Ohio, where they will participate in the national orchestra contest this week-end. The musicians, accompanied by Prof. C. R. Young, principal and director; Prof. K. R. Unfiedt, music supervisor in the city schools and a number of parents, planned to eat lunch and spend an hour in Lima, Ohio, at noon.

It was believed that the auto caravan would reach Cleveland late in the afternoon. This will enable the orchestra members to get a good night's rest at the Allerton Hotel before they play for the first time Thursday.

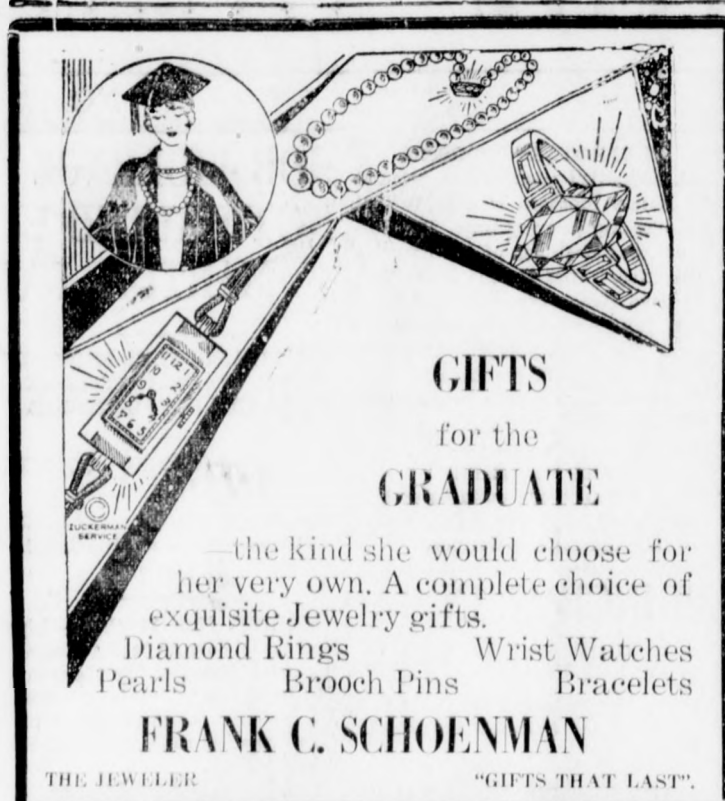

The chances of placing high in the national meet were thought to be very bright for the Greencastle organization. This will be quite an advertisement for the city as well as providing a great experience for the boys and girls composing the musical group.

Noble Johnson Makes Race In New District

FORMER CONGRESSMAN OF FIFTH DISTRICT TO RACE AGAINST PURNELL

TERRE HAUTE, May 13.—Noble Johnson is going to make another for congress. He is going to make next year.

The Terre Haute representative who went down with many other publican congressmen over the tide in the Democratic tidal wave of 1932, said Monday that he was again making the race, this time in a new district created through the reapportionment of Indiana by the legislature.

Mr. Johnson's closest friends have been saying all along that he was contesting with Congressman Franknell of Attica for the nomination in 1932. At the same time, however, without any intimation of intentions by Johnson, there had been a feeling that he would not appear in the congressional toga.

The former fifth district congressman said that he never had decided, but added that he had deemed it necessary to make his intentions so far ahead of the tide for the nomination.

He added that in view of the fact that word was apparently going out that he was not to be a candidate in 1932, it might not be at all surprising to state his determination to make a race against Mr. Purnell.

Johnson, since coming home from Washington, has not been in any of the counties added to make up the new district, but his closest friends declare that many Republicans from the new territory have been seen to see him and assure him of support. They point out, also, that the returns of the last election are so mixed, it will be shown that Johnson has a much smaller percentage of Republican voters than some of the Indiana congressmen who were defeated. They claim it was Republican apathy, more than any other political factor, that brought about the defeat of the Hoosier solon.

CAMEL

IN congratulating the winners in the great Camel contest we want at the same time to thank most cordially the approximately million men and women who displayed their friendly interest by sending in an entry.

We wish also to thank the millions of smokers throughout the country for the appreciation they are showing for our new Humidor Pack as is evidenced by the notable increase in the sale of Camel cigarettes.

By means of this dust-proof, germ-proof, moisture-proof Cellophane wrapping the rich aroma and full flavor of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos have been air-sealed in Camels for your enjoyment.

If you have not tried Camels in the Humidor Pack all we ask is that you switch over to this brand for one day.

After you have learned how much milder, how much cooler, how much more enjoyable it is to smoke a perfectly conditioned fresh cigarette, go back to the harsh hotness of stale cigarettes if you can.

Straight Answers to Everyday Questions About the Problem of Family Protection

Why should I make a will?

Because, by so doing, you can protect your family, divide your property as you wish, and select the executor and trustee whom you prefer, to settle and manage your estate.

Who will settle my estate if I do not make a will?

Whoever the Court, in its discretion, out of certain specified classes, appoints as your administrator. But the Court would, as a rule, appoint your next of kin.

An excellent way to avoid any differences or misunderstandings over the property you leave is to, have your lawyer make your will and name as executor and trustee.

base hospitals.

Thousands of these volunteer workers, whose presence was requested by General Pershing, commander in chief of the A. E. F., stood loyally night after night and day after day before the chocolate or coffee can, the doughnut tray, walked the wards of the big hospitals as searchers for the lost, or cheered the troops as they passed up to the front or returned to rest areas. Many of these workers have developed tuberculosis, arthritis and similar diseases brought on by exposure and overwork. Now, ill and without funds, their sole relief is the special "Fund for Disabled Overseas Women" which the League has, with a great deal of sacrifice on the part of its members, built up during the last few years. The fund is in trust with the Riggs National Bank of Washington, D. C., and can only be used for the relief of disabled ex-service women. Should the League's bill in behalf of the so-called "women civilians" become a law, the League's special fund could be expended solely upon those women who, as volunteers under welfare organizations, are not eligible to government aid.

The Hoosier Unit for years past has been most active in supplying hostesses for the summer training camps in this area; in furnishing entertainment for the enlisted men at Ft. Harrison during the winter months, in making regular shipments of books and magazines, and special delicacies to the Miller Cottage at the Dayton Home.

Miss Lucy Tufts Bowen, 112 Northwood Blvd., Greencastle, is in charge of arrangements and Indiana ex-service women living within driving distance are urged to join the Hoosier Unit on May 24 at the Grant Hotel.

Miss Bowen, who is director of physical education at DePauw University, has an interesting war record. For 18 months she served as recreation director for French women and girls employed in munitions plants at St. Etienne, Loire, France. She was then transferred to Boissy l'Aillerie, near Paris, where she became director of the summer camp for French women and girls. Still later she was the gymnasium teacher for the French Government Summer Camp for Children from the devastated regions, at Dannes Camiers. In 1929 Miss Bowen returned to the scenes of her war service, after some months spent in the Scandinavian countries.

The entire Executive Board of the Hoosier Unit will attend the meeting and its membership represents the American Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A. and the Army Nurse Corps. Miss A. Grace Hawk of Indianapolis, is president; Gladys Cline, vice-president; Mrs. Lillie Beck Riggs, secretary; Amy Prosser, treasurer; Florence J. Martin and Mrs. John T. Day, directors—all of Indianapolis; Nellie M. Baldwin, of Greenfield, director.

Others who will attend the meeting are Mr. and Mrs. Carmon of Ladoga, Mrs. Carmon having been Gertrude Perry in service; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Covert of Columbus; Dr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Doeppers, Mrs. Lela Nida Gresham, June Gray, Josephine Hull, Glenn Riggs of Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bassett of Anderson; Misses Ruth Dillon, Nelle Birch and Alice Mery of Terre Haute; Mrs. Glenn Heim of Wanamaker; Birda Hunt of Center; Elva Duckworth of Martinsville; Nellie F. Taylor, of Tuscola, Illinois.

RING ONLY CLUE

CLINTON, Ind., May 13, (UP)—A small gold ring was the only clue authorities possessed today to the identity of a man whose bullet riddled body was found on a road near Perryville, north of here yesterday. The body was held here by Coroner C. M. Zink. Investigation was being conducted under the theory the man was a Chicago gangster that had been "taken for a ride."

The Rev. A. C. Northrop of Greencastle will undergo a gall stone and appendix operation at the Methodist hospital in Indianapolis, Thursday morning.

MOVIES

"Man Trouble" a Fox Movietone all talking picture, acclaimed one of the outstanding productions of the year, opens its long awaited engagement at the Granada theater Thursday.

Based on Ben Ames Williams' thrilling story that was widely read in a magazine of extensive circulation, it was adapted for the screen by George Mankner Watters and Marion Orth with dialogue by Watters and Edwin Burke. The play details the adventures of a beautiful girl and a romantic minded newspaperman who fall in love, following a meeting of unusual circumstance and who find themselves surrounded by menacing influences from which there seems to be no escape.

Fate, however, places a weapon in the hands of the girl and she and her lover free themselves of the shackles that bind them to pursue the path of happiness together. These situations are thrilling and hold our interest all the way through, both for the deft quality of the direction and the acting. Dorothy Mackall, one of the most beautiful girls of the screen, whose talents are familiar to all lovers of taking pictures, portrays the leading feminine role.

URGE NEW PRISON SYSTEM

INDIANAPOLIS, May 13, (UP)—A plan whereby 25 per cent of the prisoners in Indiana penal institutions would be released and half of that group placed on probation was urged by state senator G. Oliver Holmes, Gary, in a conference here with Governor Harry G. Leslie. Morton is in charge of pardons and paroles for the governor.

Holmes branded Indiana's handling of penal problems as "unintelligent and stupid."

"We have substituted for study a program of stiffer sentences and more cell houses. Any penologist knows that long, indeterminate sentences are absolutely vicious. There are sufficient indeterminate laws on the state statute books, however, so that a little courage and intelligence on the part of Indiana judiciary could go a long way in solving the criminal problem," he said.

No first offender should be sent to jail unless the crime is very grave, Holmes contended. He should be placed on probation, Holmes said, citing laws in New York, Wisconsin and Massachusetts.

Placing of pardon and parole power in the hands of boards of trustees of institutions is also incorrect, Holmes believed. He said a parole board attains better results, and called judges who delight in being termed "hard-boiled" as a menace to society.

HEARING ON PETITION TO SELL
COMPANY IS SCHEDULED
BEFORE JUDGE RYAN

A petition to sell the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction Company at a receiver's sale will be heard at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning before Judge Russell J. Ryan of Superior court, Room 5, Marion county.

The petition was filed a short time ago by George Barnard of the law firm of VanNuys, Bernard & Walker, attorneys for Elmer W. Stout, president of the Fletcher American National Bank, who is receiver for the company.

The company was placed in the hands of the receiver some time ago, and since then a large portion of its bonds has been acquired by Insull holding companies, which already were financially concerned with the property.

The traction company has been divested of several leased lines that had been losing money, and it now consists of lines operated from Indianapolis to Richmond, Indianapolis to Terre Haute and Dunreith to New Castle, as well as leased properties of the Terre Haute Traction and Light Company, which it operates under a 999-year lease.

A petition is pending before the Indiana public service commission to abandon the Richmond division, and orders for abandoning the lines from Terre Haute to Sullivan and Clinton have been issued and will become effective at midnight May 24.

Leased lines of which the property has been divested are those from Indianapolis to Crawfordsville, to Martinsville and to Lafayette, via Lebanon and Frankfort.

Better, Quicker, Lubrication

Drive into our station and put your car on our new CURTIS Automatic Lubricating Automobile Lift. We have installed this to replace old fashioned greasing pits and racks and to enable us to give a more thorough job of lubrication because of the greater convenience in getting at the various parts to be lubricated.

Stand by and watch us do the job. Perhaps it will be the first time you really saw the underside of your car.

You won't have to drive up on a rack and then climb down nor will you have to step into a greasy pit or drive over an open pit, all of which will be appreciated by every driver, especially the woman driver.

This lift is hydraulic, operating on the same principle as hydraulic passenger elevators and absolutely safe. We have installed it with the idea of giving you a better service in less time.

CHAPTER XXXIII.
SCATTERING volley of shots met the roaring car as the gunmen on the ground scattered again from before the spinning wheels of the Hispano-Suiza. A single shot smashed its way through the soft fabric of the right front tire. For an instant Talbot thought the car would turn turtle, but Gerry's expert hands fought the wheel and conquered it. A running man threw himself headlong out of the way just as the front bumper flicked his body. By the slightest twist of the wheel Gerry could have run him down. Instead, he turned the reeling car toward another who had stopped to fire.

When Seconds Count.

The sharp tac-tac-tac of a machine gun ripped through the noises of the night. But there was no time to see who was shooting. A man had leaped to the running board and was leveling an automatic straight at Talbot's face. Gerry shook the steering wheel. The car wobbled drunkenly but the man clung on. Instantly Talbot's hand dropped to the door handle, twisted it and threw his weight against the panel. It swung wide and flipped the man from the running board. The rear wheel missed him by scant fractions of an inch.

The Hispano-Suiza was dashing at and among the scattering gunmen like a rogue elephant running amuck, its single bright eye gleaming malignantly as it swivelled here and there in response to Gerry's jerking hands on the wheel. Its two passengers could hear the snarling drone of Dave's airplane, but for the moment, they had their own battle to fight. Their only hope lay in a swift, unceasing offensive.

"Look, Gerry!" shouted Talbot, pointing straight along the single beam of the headlights.

There, emerging from the tunnel-like road in the jungle, was an ancient Ford, bumping and reeling as it forged slowly ahead over the rough ground. And emblazoned in the white glare from Gerry's headlights were two girls and a jet-black negress. Despite the maelstrom of noise, shots and confusion, the little car headed straight across the field, its rusty radiator pointed at the idling airplane before the open hangar door.

The Hispano-Suiza slewed around at full speed, racing toward the shabby little car which was already the target for half-a-dozen guns. Twenty yards away was a man who slowly, carefully, raised a double-barrelled shotgun and aimed it at the Ford. The thundering sport car cut him down in his tracks.

The Ford came to a shuddering stop. From the other side of the field came the hammering of the machine gun and the howl of the airplane's engine. The girls sat still in their car, not knowing what to do.

"Ah, the fools!" gasped Talbot, "the brave little fools!"

The Hispano lurching around them in a whirl of dust. Gerry reached down and gripped the emergency brake. He gasped: "I've got to get out!"

Dave sat on the edge of his seat cushion as if by so doing he could help his thundering plane onward. The air speed meter on the instrument board indicated 150 miles an hour, but the carpet of trees below moved beneath the fuselage with heartbreaking slowness. Never had time dragged so!

A Big Chance.

He saw Gerry's car burst out into the open clearing and dash headlong at the line of running men, who scattered, wheeled and blazed at it. He groaned involuntarily. If he could but nose down now and dive into that mess he could stop those men from shooting at Gerry and Talbot.

But there, straight ahead, was Joan, still on the box seat of the truck. The man, whose arm held the idling amphibian at the hangar door, Dave saw a man leap into the boat-shaped cockpit of the waiting ship. The slowly revolving propeller churned over with ever-increasing speed. The heavy plane lumbered ahead to meet the truck.

Dave, in a frenzy of impatience, pushed against the stick, nosing his monoplane down into a headlong dive. The altimeter showed 180 miles an hour. Wind howled through wire and struts. The roar of the engine rose to an ear-splitting whine. But still the ship seemed to be dragging along as if somehow anchored to the sky.

The man who was holding Joan looked back over his shoulder. He saw Dave's diving plane and rolled backward from his seat, landing on all fours on the bouncing platform behind the driver. He reached swiftly into the deep shadow beneath the seat. Then he stood erect and swung an odd-shaped, lumpy rifle to his shoulder.

Joan rose to her feet, twisted away from the driver's lurching grasp and threw herself to the ground. She fell and rolled over and over. The truck came to a sudden stop.

The odd-shaped rifle in the man's arms began to blink redly at the diving airplane. A neat pattern of black spots appeared in the wing, a dozen inches from Dave's head, as the sub-calibre machine gun spat out its dotted line of singing lead. And behind the blazing muzzle of the gun was Mueller's contorted face, fully visible in the glare of Gerry's headlights. The gang leader stood his ground while the plane roared down at him, holding his finger tight on the trigger, spraying lead from his vibrating weapon like water from a garden hose.

The Score Evened.

Dave, staring grimly ahead, heard the bullets crack past, heard, too, the snapping impact of lead against wood and fabric. He was sharply conscious of that swarthy face behind the gun and of the need of reaching it before those bullets probed their way through and through his own body. He adjusted his control stick and pedals with meticulous care. He must not miss. A little higher, now. Not too much. Back, hard! The plane, whose tires had almost touched the ground, leaped high into the air. The right wheel swung up across the truck like a titanic pendulum. It seemed only to graze Mueller's tense body in passing, but the man was swept away in a long parabola, turning over and over in the air before he crashed to the ground. He rolled for several feet, as limp as a rag doll thrown away by a petulant child. Then he lay very still.

At the top of his zoom Dave looked over the splintered edge of his cockpit. Gerry's car was dashing back and forth on the other end of the field as if a crazy man were at its wheel. It was a swift, sleek Car of Juggernaut. He saw it cut down one man and turn after a second.
